Biographical Information

William Branch Giles was born in Amelia County, Virginia, on 12 August 1762, to William Giles and Ann Branch. Giles was educated at Hampden-Sydney and graduated from the College of New Jersey, later known as Princeton University, in 1781. Giles studied law under George Wythe in Williamsburg and practiced law in Petersburg, Virginia, from 1784 to 1789. Elected to the First Congress in 1790 in place of Theodorick Bland, Giles served in the House of Representatives until his resignation in the Fifth Congress on 2 October 1798. Giles was elected to the Virginia House of Delegates from 1798 to 1800, however, he returned to Congress as a Democratic Republican from 4 March 1801 to 3 March 1803. After the resignation of Abraham B. Venable, Giles was appointed to the United States Senate on 4 March 1803. Giles was later elected on 4 December 1804 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Wilson C. Nicholas. Giles continued serving in the Senate until his resignation on 3 March 1815. He returned to the House of Delegates for the 1815-1816 Session until retiring from politics. Giles, however, resumed his career in politics in 1825 with a defeat in the election against John Randolph to the United States Senate. Giles again returned to the House of Delegates to represent Amelia County for the 1826-1827 Session. Giles was elected governor of Virginia on 4 March 1827 and served three one-year terms until 4 March 1830. Giles was also elected to a fourth term as governor, but declined to serve another term. While governor, Giles served as a representative of the district composed of the counties of Amelia, Cumberland, Chesterfield, Nottoway, and the town of Petersburg to the Constitutional Convention of 1829-1830.

Giles married Martha Peyton Tabb, eldest daughter of John Tabb, in 1797, and remarried after her death to Frances Ann Gwynn of Prince William County in 1810. Giles fathered seven children between his two wives. He died and is buried at his estate of "Wigwam" on 4 December 1830.

Scope and Content

William B. Giles's Executive papers primarily consist of incoming correspondence during his three one-year terms as governor between 4 March 1827 and 4 March 1830. The correspondence in this collection relates to a variety of topics including appointments & recommendations for state positions; Herman Boye's map of Virginia; the Constitutional Convention of 1829-1830; the Virginia Penitentiary; amendments to the U.S. Constitution; the Washington Monument Fund; the Virginia State Library; Thomas W. White's publication of the journals of the Virginia General Assembly; arms and ammunition; the militia; military bounty claims; public improvements; resignations; extraditions; state expenses & revenue; elections; and others. In addition to correspondence, there are resolutions from the Virginia Senate & House of Delegates; accounts; oaths; contracts; pardons; proposals; receipts; election returns & certificates; qualifications; lists; proclamations; petitions; pay rolls; reports; appointments; resignations; bonds; commissions; orders; proceedings; opinions; and other sundry items.

The Governor received correspondence from three main sources: the Federal government, Virginia State government, and Governors from other states. Federal government correspondents include President John Quincy Adams; Henry Clay & Martin Van Buren, Secretaries of State; James Barbour, Secretary of War; Richard Rush, Secretary of the Treasury; & Virginia's senators in Congress.

President John Quincy Adams writes to acknowledge receipt of the map of Virginia (1828 March 28). Henry Clay, Dept of State, transmits copies of the laws of Congress (1827 May 17). Clay also writes regarding the transmission of the May sessions of 1778, 1779, & 1781 of the Journals of the General Assembly for republication (1827 Oct. 20, Nov. 1, & Dec. 11). Daniel Brent served as Acting Secretary of State in the absence of Henry Clay. Brent writes Governor Giles delivering proceedings of Congress (1828 Sept. 23). Brent also writes to request copies of the Proclamation of the King of England from 7 October 1763 from the archives of the state of Virginia to be used as evidence to settle the northeastern boundary line of the United States (1828 Sept. 26). Lastly, Brent encloses a letter from George Walterston, Librarian of Congress, requesting the return of certain volumes of the journal of the Virginia Legislature (1829 Jan. 29). Later, Martin Van Buren writes requesting the number of incorporated colleges in the state for the distribution of public documents (1829 April 16). Van Buren also writes regarding the delivery of acts of Congress (1829 May 4). James Barbour, Secretary of War, writes requesting a copy of the map of Virginia (1827 Oct. 13). Richard Rush, Secretary of the Treasury, writes regarding the law passed at the last session of Congress for the relief of certain surviving officers & soldiers of the Army of the Revolution (including act & forms of declarations (1828 June 12). Rush also writes to acknowledge receipt of the governor's letter and a copy of a register offered by the governor (1828 July 7). John Tyler, Virginia senator, writes regarding a law to appropriate a part of the public lands in relief of the officers & soldiers of Virginia whose Revolutionary land claims remained unsatisfied (1828 Dec. 15). Tyler later writes regarding documents necessary to fulfill the instructions according to the General Assembly (1829 Jan. 16). Lastly, Tyler writes regarding the resolution of the Virginia General Assembly regarding the lands reserved between the Scioto & Miami rivers (1829 April 9). Littleton W. Tazewell, Virginia senator, writes regarding his re-election to the Senate (1829 Feb. 12).

The majority of correspondence in William B. Giles's Executive Papers originates from Virginia State government. Significant correspondents from Virginia State government include Samuel P. Parsons, Superintendent of the Penitentiary; James Robertson, Attorney General; William H. Richardson, Clerk of the Council & Librarian; George W. Munford, Clerk of the House of Delegates; James E. Heath, Auditor of Public Accounts; Lawson Burfoot, Treasurer; Thomas W. White; and Herman Boye, Surveyor.

Samuel P. Parsons, Superintendent of the Virginia Penitentiary, corresponded with Governor Giles regarding various issues respecting prisoners and the Virginia Penitentiary. Parsons writes respecting the valuation of transports in the Penitentiary (1827 March 28, July 21, Oct. 19; 1828 Oct. 31; & 1829 March 24); timber for gun carriages (1827 March 31, Nov. 3, & 5); the purchase of a spinning machine for the use of the Penitentiary (1827 April 20); male transports at the Penitentiary (1827 June 9); permission to work the transports out of the walls of the Penitentiary in repairing the aqueduct conveying water to the institution (1827 June 11 & 14); permission to employ C. Lumpkin as sergeant & turnkey pro tem in place of Abner Griffin (1827 July 19); work done on the Armory by John Goddin & Charles W. McGinnis (1827 Oct. 24); a notice in The Compiler stating that Rev. Adam Payne will preach at the Penitentiary (1827 Dec. 22); the conduct of Jacob Ruse, a convict in the Penitentiary (1828 Jan. 15); a letter from D. L. Burr declining the acceptance of the office of Director of the Penitentiary (1828 Feb. 11); the trial & conviction of Joseph Hunter (1828 April 2); his recommendation of the pardon of Ambrose Dowdy (1828 May 5); the resolutions of the Board of Directors of the Penitentiary regarding the repair of the road leading to the Penitentiary (1828 July 1); the case of Nicholas Gibson, a convict in the Penitentiary (1828 Sept. 2); his recommendation of the pardon of John Dode (1829 Jan. 17); the adoption of his arrangement that excludes intercourse with the prison at meal times (1829 May 9); the restriction of visitors in the interior of the Penitentiary (1829 May 26); the old magazine near the Penitentiary (1829 June 26); an estimate of the value of convict slaves in the Penitentiary (1829 Aug. 13); the pardon of Frederick, a slave confined in the Penitentiary (1829 Aug. 15); the nomination of John Jacob as second keeper of the Penitentiary (1829 Oct. 26); the removal of John Bates from the County Jail to the Penitentiary (1829 Nov. 25); the trial & conviction of David W. Noe & Sarah Taylor (1829 Dec. 4); a letter from Blair Bolling re. non-commissioned officers for the Penitentiary (1830 Feb. 4); harnesses furnished for the Richmond Artillery (1830 Feb. 8); and the health of certain convicts in the Penitentiary (1830 Feb. 17).

John Robertson, Attorney General, provides opinions on the lease made to Archer & Povall for the use of the Boring Mill (1827 Sept. 1); the case of John & Margaret Glassell, guardians of Robert E. Lee & Elizabeth Lee, infants, against Robert E. & Elizabeth Lee (1827 Dec. 10); magistrates' responsibility for the sufficiency of jails and the duties & responsibilities of sheriffs in the safekeeping of prisoners (1828 Feb. 2); deeds of trust (1828 April 4); public bonds & the special act to invest the Washington Monument Fund (1828 April 14 & 26); deeds of trust & the Washington Monument Fund (1828 May 7); Capt. Edward Richardson's request for a court of enquiry (1828 July 24); the sale of transport slaves to Charles S. Lucas of Alabama by Richard Ligon (1828 Sept. 24); the proceeding by J. H. Thorington to recover debt due from Richard Ligon & his securities (1829 Jan. 2); a deed of release from Messrs. Archer & Povall for the rent of the Boring Mill (1829 March 12); the case of Henry, a slave tried for a willful & malicious assault (1829 March 18); compensation for C. Johnson for his services in the suits, etc., of the Commonwealth vs. Jerman Baker, former Treasurer, and his securities (1829 July 24); and the claim of Samuel Shepherd & Co. in printing circulars to the commissioners of revenue (1830 Jan. 30).

William H. Richardson served as both Clerk of the Council of State & Librarian. As the first State Librarian, Richardson was instrumental in procuring books and a Library Room in the Capitol. On 10 May 1828, Richardson encloses two proposals with estimates to do the wood work of the Library Room to be fitted up in the Capitol. Later, he submits a memorandum regarding the painting of the Library Room in the Capitol (1828 Sept. 18). Richardson also writes several times concerning the purchase of books for the Library (1828 Oct. 3, 1829 June 19, July 28, & Aug. 24). Richardson also encloses a list of books for the Library (1829 July 30).

George W. Munford, as Clerk of the House of Delegates, often submits legislation to the governor. Noteworthy is an act concerning the Armory regarding the lease of the Boring Mill by Branch T. Archer & William Povall (1829 Jan. 29); a resolution for the appointment of commissioners to run a dividing line between the lands reserved and the lands ceded by the Commonwealth in the state of Ohio (1829 Feb. 13); a resolution requesting the Executive to open a correspondence with the United States relative to the lands between the Scioto & Little Miami rivers (1828 Feb. 24); and an act concerning the Library (1829 Feb. 28). Additionally, Munford transmits a certificate of the election of Lawson Burfoot as treasurer (1829 Jan. 9).

James E. Heath, Auditor of Public Accounts, corresponds with Governor Giles regarding copies of acts (1827 March 8); the postage account for his office (1827 April 2 & Sept. 22); the balance of the appropriation for improving the Public Square (1827 April 3); his bond as auditor (1827 April 20); the allowance for the sheriff of Lee County for transporting a prisoner to the Penitentiary (1827 May 9); the account of Kimbraugh & Hooper to make boxes for the Auditor's Office (1827 July 18); the accounts of Baskerville & Hicks for castings in 1814 (1827 Oct. 24); the appointment of Col. William Lambert as agent to settle claims with the United States (1827 Nov. 5); the claim against the General Government (1827 Nov. 23); compensation to Philip P. Barbour & J. B. Carr who were employed by the escheator of Albemarle County to defend the right of the Commonwealth in two cases (1827 Dec. 4); compensation to Col. William Lambert as agent employed to collect evidence to sustain the suspended items in the account against the General Government (1828 Jan. 15); compensation to Philip B. Barbour for his services in the case of Miller's escheated land in Albemarle County (1828 Jan. 22); a request for the new map of Virginia for the investigation of delinquent lands (1828 Feb. 1); the amount of Branch T. Archer's & William G. Povall's bond for rent of the Boring Mill at the Armory (1828 March 17); the Treasury (1828 March 29); the purchase of slaves belonging to Richard Ligon by Charles S.
