Historical Information

In 1970, the Governor's Management Commission Study recommended the creation of six "Deputy Governors" to assist the Chief Executive in his managerial duties. Compatible functions of government were grouped under these administrative heads, who would serve as the Governor's top management team.

The office of the Secretary of Transportation and Public Safety was created on April 8, 1972. Originally, the Secretary of Transportation and Public Safety oversaw the State Highway Commission, Division of Motor Vehicles, Department of State Police, Highway Safety Division, Office of Emergency Services, Department of Military Affairs, Virginia State Crime Commission, and the Law Enforcement Officers Training Standards Commission. Since that time, the Office has undergone a series of administrative reorganizations. On April 12, 1976, the Legislature established separate secretariats for transportation and public safety, effective July 1, 1976. On July 1, 1984, the offices were again combined. Finally, the two became separate offices on February 22, 1990, and have remained separate in the years since.

Governor McAuliffe signed SB 381 into law on April 4, 2014, transferring responsibility for overseeing and coordinating efforts to strengthen homeland security from the Secretary of Veterans Affairs and Homeland Security to the Secretary of Public Safety. Secretariats were renamed Secretary of Veterans and Defense Affairs and Secretary of Public Safety and Homeland Security at that time.

The Secretary of Public Safety and Homeland Security is a member of the Governor's Cabinet, is appointed by the governor, and is subject to confirmation by the General Assembly. Throughout Governor Terrence McAuliffe's term (2014-2018), the Secretary of Public Safety was responsible for the direction of, or had jurisdiction over, 10 state agencies and boards. The agencies and boards under the heading of the Secretary of Public Safety during the McAuliffe administration are as follows: Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, Commonwealth's Attorneys' Services Council, Department of Corrections, Department of Criminal Justice Services, Department of Emergency Management, Department of Fire Programs, Department of Forensic Science, Department of Juvenile Justice, Department of Military Affairs, the Virginia Parole Board, and the Virginia State Police.

Brian J. Moran was appointed Secretary of Public Safety by Governor-elect Terrence McAuliffe in December 2013 and served as Secretary of Public Safety and Homeland Security from 2014-2018. Moran, as native of Massachusetts, graduated with B.A. in Economics from Framingham State College in 1982, and from the Catholic University of America, Columbus School of Law in 1988. He served as a prosecutor in Arlington County, VA, 1989-1996, and practiced law in his own firm, 1996-2013. He also served as a Delegate in the House of Delegates, 1996-2013, and as Democratic Party of Virginia Chairman, 2010-2012.

Deputy Secretaries of Public Safety and Homeland Security during the McAuliffe Administration included Curtis Brown, Victoria Cochran, Adam Thiel, and Tonya Vincent.
