Scope and Content

Record Group 339 houses the personal papers of Thomas E. Derr, formerly of Arlington, Virginia. The record group measures approximately 1.5 linear feet and dates from 1951 through 1967, with the bulk from 1961 through 1967. Types of material include school publications, school and sports memorabilia, and clippings.

The materials appear to have been collected while he was a student. Most of the materials concern team sports played at the two schools, especially basketball and rowing, and include sporting event programs and numerous clippings. Some clippings are from local newspapers, and many are both undated and from unidentified papers. There are also some general school publications and memorabilia unrelated to sports, and some sports publications not related to either school.
