Administrative History

The position of Executive Vice-President at Virginia Tech was established in 1968 as a result of the reorganization of the University's top-level administration. Warren Brandt served from 1968 to 1969, followed by William James McKeefery from 1969 to 1973, and William E. Lavery from 1973 to 1974, when the position was eliminated and he became President of the university. However, other positions have used "Executive Vice President" as part of their titles since the 1980s.
