Historical Information

The Center for the Study of Constitutional Rights examined the formation of the Bill of Rights and the ways that landmark document was influenced by George Mason of Gunston Hall. Established in 1981 as the Project for the Study of Human Rights the center coordinated an annual lecture series, "The Legacy of George Mason," and published these lectures through the George Mason University Press. The lectures focused on the histories of states and countries that established bills of rights as well as the effects of the First Amendment. The lectures were sponsored by Gunston Hall, the Fairfax Bar Association, the George Mason School of Law, the School of Continuing and Alternative Learning, the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy, the Alexandria Bicentennial Center, the Northern Virginia Association of Historians, and the departments of History, Public Affairs, American Studies, and Philosophy and Religious Studies.
