Bio/Historical Note

Kathleen Cornelia Neal of Suffolk, Virginia matriculated at Madison College in the fall of 1953. While a student, Neal was a member of the YWCA. She earned a bachelor of science degree in education in 1957. After graduation Neal was a teacher for the Norfolk County school system. She married Colby Sutton Jones Jr. in 1962.

Scope and Content

The Kathleen Neal Jones Scrapbook, 1953-1955, comprises one bound scrapbook documenting Neal's time as a student at Madison College.

The scrapbook includes a 1953-1954 Madison College schedule and other orientation information including a guide to the Madison Memorial Library and a program for the Old Student-New Student Ceremony; tuition and laboratory fees receipts; deposit fund cards; report cards; program cards; ticket stubs; brochures for local attractions including Natural Bridge, Luray Caverns, and the Live Fur Parade in New Market; and a copy of McKnight & McKnight's A Test on Social Usage.

Theatre, concert, and event programs include the Rockingham County High School Music Festival, Stratford Players performances, VPI Glee Club concert, and a Porpoise Club performance. Several programs from Harrisonburg's First Presbyterian Church are included.

Additional materials include holiday-themed ephemera (Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas), newspaper clippings, and information for Camp Jamestown where Neal was a counselor.

The last page of the scrapbook includes a pasted-in copy of the 1955 Founder's Day Program and includes the following inscription: "This scrapbook ends with the celebration of the anniversary of Madison College in March of my sophomore year..."
