Administration History

The Virginia Child Protection Newsletter (VCPN) was originally published by the University of Virginia, with the support of the Bureau of Child Protective Services, Virginia Department of Welfare, beginning in 1974. In 1981, VCPN was transferred to James Madison University when Dr. Joann Grayson and student, Charlotte McNulty, won a bid from the Department of Social Services to take over the newsletter. Each newsletter focuses on one or more topics in child welfare and spotlights local organizations in Virginia that are dedicated to the issue's related topic. Topics included physical, sexual, and emotional abuse; missing children; and the impacts of drugs and alcohol. Some of the articles provide a survey of literature, address current and practice issues, or discuss grants for Virginia community projects. The VCPN was mailed to about 13,000 agencies and individuals in Virginia and across the United States.

Dr. Joann Hess Grayson joined James Madison University in 1975 through the Department of Psychology. In addition to her role as editor of the VCPN, she worked full-time as a professor and supervisor for Psychology 202- Introductory Field Work up until her retirement in 2011. At this time, Debbie Sturm, Professor in the Department of Graduate Psychology, became the new editor of the VCPN. As of 2023, VCPN is no longer in print.

Reference Lists

Unit ID 2

Unit Date 1927-2010

Scope and Contents

Reference lists contain bibliographies for each issue published and are arranged based on topic, not volume or issue number. Additionally, because they are separated based on content, there are overlapping bibliographies for certain issues. "VCPN on the Web," a subgroup within the series of Reference Lists, also contains various bibliographic information. Similar to a bibliography, it documents the VCPN's presence on the internet through review citations, links to website mentions of the VCPN, and information on where they have been reprinted.

Year-end Reports and Grant Summaries

Unit ID 3

Unit Date 1990-2010

Scope and Contents

Year-end reports contain summary reports for the VCPN issue year, typically starting July 1 and carrying on through June 30 of the following year. They're comprised primarily of complimentary notes, statistics on the number of subscribers, resource lists for places where their newsletter was reprinted or mentioned, and some years contain published copies of the VCPN issues. Similarly, grant summaries mostly comprise generated lists of the VCPN accomplishments including workshop and conference distribution and participation, publications, ongoing distributions, and correspondence. Some issues do contain a grant summary essay discussing the accomplishments of the year.
