Biographical/Historical Information

The Beginnings of the Colson Family can be traced back to 1791. The Person of record was James Colson (1768-1824) who had been enslaved by a William Nelson of York County Virginia. He was emancipated in Williamsburg around 1791 and it is certain that by 1794 James Colson was living in Petersburg Virginia.

James Colson became a barber. This was one of the occupations free African American men were allowed to engage in. In 1804, Colson purchased a lot on Union Street and around 1820 another piece of property on Oak Street. James Colson died in 1825 and his son William took over the Business. In 1826 William Colson married Sarah Elebek. One of five children fathered by Major Elebek. Elebek like Colson was also a barber and a free African American.

William Colson became interested in the American Colonization Society's (1817-1895) efforts to remove to Africa all African Americans to what would become Liberia. At this time in Petersburg the Colson and Elebek families were members of the Methodist Church. Here they met another family by the name of Roberts. The Roberts and Colson family combined and formed a mercantile business, and Roberts and his family emigrated to Liberia. William Nelson Colson remained in Petersburg and managed the business from the U.S. side. In 1835 William Colson went to Liberia to confer with Roberts where he became ill and died.

Three children came from the Union of William and Sarah Elebek Colson. James Major, Mary Alexena and William Nelson Colson. Mary Alexena Colson married John K. Shore and William Nelson married Milvina and moved to Boston, Massachusetts. James Major Colson married Fannie Meade Bolling of Petersburg in 1850. Nine children were born to this couple.

The other component of this family were a mixture of free African American and enslaved family. John Henry Hill was born in King and Queen county Virginia in 1828. Like many others born into bondage, Hill was trained as a carpenter and was hired out by his owner. Although a native of King and Queen, Hill was either sold or rented out in Petersburg and in 1853 was owned by a John Mitchell. Hill had also married a free African American woman, Rose McCray and they were the parents of two young sons.

Hill was enslaved and in 1853 his owner had decided to sell him. It is unclear how Hill found out. His possible sale and instead of being sold, he escaped. Hill found his way to Canada where his wife later joined him, and the seven Hill daughters were born. After the Civil War Hill returned to Petersburg, became a prosperous Businessman and engaged in local politics.

Edna Meade Colson was born October 7, 1888, in Petersburg, Virginia, the oldest of five children to James Major Colson, Jr., and his wife Kate Hill Colson who was one of the daughters of John Henry Hill.

Included in these materials is an interesting letter from William Still and in the Alice and Henry Colson Jackson Papers correspondence regarding the House of Roberts and Colson.

Edna Meade Colson was a product of the Petersburg public school system. After graduation from Peabody High School in 1904, she continued her education at Fisk University in Nashville, Tennessee. In 1908 she completed the Normal Course and joined the staff of Virginia State (then the Virginia Normal and Industrial Institute) in 1909. Edna Colson returned to Fisk and earned the Bachelor of Education in 1915. She later earned the Degrees of Bachelor of Science in 1923, Master of Arts in 1924, and Doctor of Philosophy in 1940 from Columbia Teachers College, New York. Her dissertation was An Analysis of Specific References to Negroes in Selected Curricula for the Education of Teachers.

During her career at Virginia State University Miss Colson served as classroom teacher, Supervisor of Student Teaching, Director of the Normal School, and Director of the Division of Education through the changing phases of the development of the University. In 1951 she became the Director of the newly created School of Education.

Miss Colson was very active in school functions at Teachers. She was Vice President of the Negro Education

Club, and in 1931 she was a representative of the Club to the White House Conference on Education, and in the summer of 1939 she studied workshop organization at the University of Chicago.

Miss Colson was: affiliated with the American Association of University Professors, The Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, The Virginia Teachers Association, The Virginia Association of Jeanes Supervisors, and the Virginia Academy of Science, a life member of the American Teachers Association, a charter member of the Virginia Research Society, the National Association of College Women. The Virginia Interracial Commission, the Negro Organization Society, The American Red Cross, The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, a charter member of the Delta Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha, and the Virginia State Federation of Colored Women's Clubs.

Miss Colson was a prolific writer and a highly sought after speaker throughout the state of Virginia. During her career she contributed articles to the Virginia State College Gazette, The Quarterly Journal of Higher Education for Negroes and the Journal of Negro Education.

Edna Colson was considered an authority on curriculum development and on source materials which could be used in teaching about the African American experience in America. She was considered by many to be the most influential person in the development of African American teachers, and teacher education.

Edna Colson corresponded with J.L. Blair, H.C. Newbold, L. C. Reynolds, Jannie Porter Barrett, A.G. Richardson, Eva Mitchell, Fred M. Alexander, D.A. Wilkerson, Rose Butler Brown, Mary Branch, Belle Boone Beard, and Mable Carney.

Scope and Content Information

The Colson Hill Family Papers document one of the most unique African-American families in the United States. This manuscript group covers this family's life and activities in the Commonwealth of Virginia from 1834-1984. These papers document the family's involvement with: The establishment of Liberia, the Underground Railroad, the establishment of Virginia State University, public education in Petersburg and in Virginia, the readjuster party, business in Petersburg and the social and community activities in the African American community as well. Not only did Miss Colson become keeper of the family papers, her long an outstanding career led to the creation of a large number of records documenting her productive life as well. Miss Colson was a teacher and a teacher of teachers. She was a student and believer in the idea that education could solve societies social, political, and economic ills. The papers provide a window into several aspects of African American society rarely scene. The bulk of the materials is in the form on correspondence, however, there are numerous printed items and photographs as well. The papers are quite useful for the study of: History of Education, Women's History, Local History, Family History, and Social and Economic History.

Series VI: Literary, Diaries, Autograph Books, notebooks, speeches and writings

Sub-Series A: Diaries

Box 61a (Folio)

Scope and Content

Four diaries maintained by James Major Colson Jr. beginning in January of 1878 and continuing through 1899. Not only did James Major Colson maintain a diary, his wife Kate also began in 1887 her first diary. Mrs. Colson's diary, however, only covers a few months of that year. Also, in this sub-series is a diary belonging to William Nelson Colson II, son of James and Kate Colson. The Diary begins in the summer of 1914 and continues to February 1915. During this time Mr. Colson was a member of the faculty at Virginia Union University in Richmond, VA.

Sub-Series B: Autographs, Books, Notebooks, Travel log

Box 61a (Folio)

Scope and Content

Notebooks kept by James Major Colson and Kate Hill as students. Mr. Colson's notebook covers a variety of subjects taken at Dartmouth. Included is a notebook maintained for his class in Physics (1881-1882) other subjects include language, natural history, physiology, and literature. Mrs. Colson notebook covers a number of subjects, which would have been included in the study for a teaching certificate at this time.

Sub-Series C: Notebooks

Box 61a (Folio)

Scope and Content

A Composition notebook kept by Edna M. Colson. The notebook appears to have been used to teach Sunday School classes. Two autograph books, one belonging to Miss Kate Hill (later Kate Colson) and dates from 1882-through Aug 1883. The other autograph book belongs to Miss Edna Meade Colson and covers the time span from 1907 through 1909. There is also a travel log which was kept by Edna M. Colson, no date.
