Scope and Content

This collection consists of the papers of Senator Claude A. Swanson of Virginia (1862-1939), 1917-1922, ca. 6,400 items (16 Hollinger boxes, 6.5 linear feet) primarily correspondence with constituents and fellow congressmen concerning bills in the Senate, constituent needs and requests, appointments and invitations, all related to his senatorial career. Common constituent concerns include claims against various federal and state agencies, especially the United States Army, pardons for family members and friends, difficulties with foreign governments, personal problems, the loss of personal effects of soldiers, liberty bonds, requests for letters of introduction and recommendation, and questions about government surplus from World War I.

Also present are several printed items, including a dedication ceremony program of a Virginia Historical Highway Marker honoring Swanson; an article about Swanson by Henry H. Mitchell; copies of a Yorktown Sesquicentennial Celebration program, a silver service presentation to the Battleship Virginia, and a song "Our Governor Elect" by Blanche Hardy Consolvo; and a bound scrapbook of electrostatic copies of newspaper articles, photographs and papers, and compiled by Charles C. Hallin 1992.

Swanson was born on March 31, 1862, at Swansonville, Virginia, and educated at Randolph-Macon College (1885) and the University of Virginia (law degree in 1886). He returned to Pittsylvania County and practiced law until elected to the House of Representatives, serving from 1893-1906. Swanson was governor of Virginia, 1906-1910, and immediately following his term as governor he was appointed to fill the United States Senate seat left vacant by the death of Senator John Daniel. Subsequently Swanson was elected by the Virginia Legislature to complete the unfinished term. After the change in the Virginia Constitution, he was re-elected by popular vote for three terms, serving on the Foreign Affairs Committee and the Naval Affairs Committee. His service in the Senate continued from 1910 until 1933, when he became Secretary of the Navy under President Franklin D. Roosevelt and was instrumental in building a modern U.S. Navy. For a more complete discussion of his political career and accomplishments see Claude A. Swanson of Virginia: A Political Biography by Henry C. Ferrell, Jr. (1985, University Press of Kentucky).

He married Elizabeth Deane Lyons ("Lizzie"), on December 11, 1894, and following his term as governor, the Swansons lived on their farm "Eldon" east of Chatham, Virginia, when the Senate was not in session, until her death on July 13, 1920. Swanson's second marriage, in October of 1923, was to Lulie Lyons Hall, widow of Cunningham Hall of Richmond and sister of his first wife, Lizzie Lyons.

The Swanson Papers are arranged chronologically with an alphabetical listing of subjects and the dates of their letters following in this guide (Boxes 1-10). Several topics of concern to numerous constituents have been foldered separately (Boxes 11-16) and include the following: the Armenian refugee problem and conflict with their Turkish rulers; disarmament letters discussing the first major attempt to reduce the burden of armaments at the Washington Naval Conference of 1921-1922; letters concerned with the affairs of the Hampton Roads Area, including Norfolk, Newport News, Hampton, and Portsmouth, chiefly reflecting the vast impact that World War I and the presence of the armed forces had on the area; Naval Appointments; Prohibition and related topics; Requests by Constituents, which includes mostly simple requests for government publications, seeds, plants, fish applications, Senate gallery passes, White House tours, and tickets to various events; Richmond affairs; Second Class Mail Rates, a bill introduced to repeal the zone postal law applying to second class mail matter, viewed as harmful to small local newspapers and beneficial to the big magazines; the Sheppard-Towner Bill, which gave funds to states to promote maternal and infant welfare; the Soldier's Bonus Bill, which sought to compensate soldiers who served in the armed forces during World War I while their contemporaries earned high wages back home; and Tariffs and Taxes, chiefly concerned with the perceived impact of the Fordney-McCumber Tariff Act upon various American industries and businesses.
