

Glacial flowBA-64

Glacial flow
2019

Title Statement

Glacial flowBA-64

Publication Statement

Publisher: University of Richmond Book Arts Studio
archives@richmond.edu

Profile Description

Creation: This finding aid was produced using ArchivesSpace on 2025-10-16 07:03:20 -0400.

Language Usage: Description is written in: English, Latin script.

Descriptive Summary

Unit ID

BA-64

Unit ID

/repositories/6/resources/123

Unit Date

2019

Language

English

Description

"This glacier-shaped book unfolds into the form of a snow-covered mountain receding into the distance. It uses a combination of wire-edge binding and handmade brass hinges. The project uses glacial flow and glacial recession as metaphors for understanding personal change and for coming to terms with the internal transformations, metamorphoses, repetitions, and losses in our lives. It presents ideas of geology and the self [as] intertwined, mirrored, and inextricably linked, suggesting that by knowing the land we inhabit, we can better come to know ourselves"--Artist's statement.

Creator

Mansolino, Ann

Material Specification

Rare Book Room copy is 3 of 10. Rare Book Room copy includes author's autograph on colophon: Ann Mansolino. Title from slipcase. Statement of responsibility from colophon. Imprint supplied by creator.

Extent

13 Items [12] leaves : maps + 1 slipcase 17 cm

Extent

On paper and museum board with shaped top edges. Leaves forming covers are accordion bound with handmade brass hinges. The main text block is a piano hinge, wire-edge binding. Includes topographic maps on two leaves and lining the slipcase.

Repository

University of Richmond Book Arts Studio

Administrative Information

Keywords

Glaciers

Drift

Change (Psychology)

Artists' Books

Note

Britton fund.