Preferred Citation:

C. James Gleason Photography Collection, Special Collections Research Center, William & Mary Libraries

Biographical Information:

Gleason served as a freelance photographer for William & Mary for more than two decades, photographing events, people, locations, etc. related to the University. The collection includes contact sheets, negatives, and CDs containing digital files. The contact sheets should correspond to the negatives (both film and digital). Each binder of contact sheets has a scope note identifying the various subjects found within each binder. The first binder contains a paper inventory, wherein subjects are arranged alphabetically and connected to their respective contact sheet number.

Scope and Contents

The collection of James Gleason represents all aspects of events and activities at the College of William and Mary for the years 1983-2006. Events documented include: Charter Day, commencement, buildings, awards, faculty and staff, students, and athletics. Physically the collection is organized by the "rolls of film taken" and into years they were taken. They are stored and protected in plastic sheets in notebooks and numbered for identification.

Scope and Contents

This binder includes both contact sheets and corresponding negatives. It is unclear if Gleason is the photographer for all of the photographs. It is also unclear if the photographs duplicate events in other binders. There is no inventory readily available for this binder, but subjects include students, W&M events, Gene Nichol, faculty, and campus buildings.
