Quo Vadis Wright Family papers, Special Collections Research Center, William & Mary Libraries.

Scope and Contents

The Quo Vadis Wright papers contains correspondence, photographs, financial documents and scrapbooks documenting the family of Quo Vadis Williams Wright. Quo Vadis and her family primarily settled in Williamsburg, Virginia where she worked as a concierge and in hospitality for the Colonial Williamsburg foundation, Fort Magruder Inn, Howard Johnson, Mama Steve's Pancake House and Southern Pancake House. The collection documents African American History in Williamsburg, Virginia specifically as it pertains to the Quo Vadis Wright family and immediate community.

Arrangement

The scrapbook cover is stamped with "Virginia State University '29," "Alpha Kappa Alpha." The contents include photographs of men and women both posed and engaged in social activities on Virginia State University's campus, at the beach, and at unidentified places. Some of the people are identified. There are also clippings, greeting cards, letters, Alpha Kappa Alpha ephemera, and event programs.
