Scope and Contents

This information has been provided by the seller and has not been verified: "These cards were printed in Holland circa 1924. The Publisher was the Liebig Company and the product being promoted was soup, although the product is not shown. According to information on the back of the cards, the images shown are based on engravings prepared in 1865. Each card depicts a male and a female member of a different tribe in the tribe's natural environment. The male appears in characteristic, often highly elaborate, garb at center, while the female appears in a circular portrait in the upper corner. The latter portrait showcases the female's hairstyle or headwear. Situated in the foreground are works of tribal art, artifacts, implements and/or musical instruments coming from the respective ethnic group. Typical dwellings and/or other figures appear in the background. The tribes treated in the series are: The Baluba, The Bangala, The Babali, The Wagenia, The Bushongo, The Azande, The Ngome, The Bagelima, The Wasongola, The Gearabiseers, The Sango, The Bayaka, The Bambuti, The Batetela, The Mangbetu, The Basengele, The Batutsi and the Bambala. Each reverse contains 5-10 paragraphs of text, in Dutch, describing the demographics, customs, rituals, art, and environment of the respective tribe."

French Revolution-Era AssignatsUnit ID id122836Unit ID /repositories/2/archival_objects/93148Unit Date 1792-1793Mixed Materials 11c (box)Language FrenchScope and Contents

Scope and Contents The following is a description provided by the seller: "This is a Set of three (3) original French Revolution era Assignats, dated 1792-1793": 1) a 10 Sous note. Size: approx. 3" by 3 3/14" ; 2) a 15 Sols note. Size: approx. 3" by 3 1/4"; and, 3) a 5 Livres note. Size: approx. 2 1/2" by 3 1/2". The first two notes are from "1792" and are in VG+ Condition, w/some edge-tears, general wear, etc., while the third note is from "1793" and is in a Fine Condition w/some Very light staining.Now for some history: the French Revolution was funded by issues of paper money known as "assignats". These little promissory notes were essentially a form of "emergency" money, and were issued between 1790 and 1795. Because far too many assignats were printed--literally millions-- they became worthless. In 1795, presses were destroyed and production ceased. The assignats offered here are among the earlier assignats printed. A nice decorative border surrounds each note + they all have the usual two "blind"/embossed seals. Each is printed on fine, watermarked paper." Also includes an extra 20 Sols note, dated 1793.
